Brazilian duo Binaryh is absolutely on fire. They've been dropping bomb after bomb on Steyoyoke Black and now they've come up with their Éolo EP, made of two superb Techno cuts.

The first one, 'Noto', goes gentle on the beats. It's about a melodic crusade where an elegant synth loop enhances colours before its very echoes fade into the mist that surrounds it. Deep, dingy and graceful.

Second track, 'Bóreas', comes with full power introducing Binaryh's usual pace. Forceful techno with an ostensible bassline, tense atmosphere, thumping kicks and crushing drop. Definitely the complete package.

The duo shows great versatility with this work, presenting different aspects of their musical concept. Two different approaches for a genre that's natively dark, called Techno.
